

The parking is fine as it is thank you

THE Cranleigh Chamber of Commerce is trying to get us local council tax payers to pay £20,000 to install new "pay-on-exit" car parking machines. This is in the vain hope that people will linger longer in the High Street and spend more money in their members' shops.

The current "Pay-and-display" system works really well, just as it does in other car parks all around the UK, so can we just leave it alone please?
